18 Hotel Hugo

Lobby :

Outdoor Dining Table Set :

The upscale, contemporary hotel was the vision of designer and architect Marcello Pozzi and Nobutaka Ashihara. As a boutique hotel, it is small, but brimming in luxury. We walk past its secluded outdoor seating lounge and go into the lobby. A curved walls made of Italian walnut paneling gleam in the soft light of the chrome fixtures hanging from the ceiling. The exposed concrete and industrial look of the pipes find warmth in the highly polished Italian wood, the chocolate browns and the soft pastel blue of the décor.

Restaurant :

A features of 17-foot glass façade leading into the main lobby with floor to ceiling modern travertine walls and blue marble flooring. Creating an urban retreat, vertical gardens behind the check-in desk to custom indoor foliage in the restaurant. Pozzi commissioned Italian craftsmen who flew in woodwork for the hotel and restaurant including walnut paneling and furniture from Italy.
